1. Do listening warm-up 1 to check students know the difference between turn left, turn right, it's on the left, it's on the right and go straight.
2. Do warm-up 2 giving student A and B different mazes. Student A then closes their eyes and student B guides A through their maze. Student B then closes their eyes and student A guides them. After this exercise do group pronunciation of above vocabulary.
3. Using worksheet 1 ask students to match the Japanese and English through guess work and previous knowledge. Do group pronunciation afterwards.
4. Next test students retention of new vocabulary by matching pictures and words on worksheet 4.
5. Finally do a gap-fill activity to practice using directions vocabulary with sheet 4 and 5. Student A has the answers for student B and vice versa. They should both end up with the same map. The students should use new vocabulary learned from worksheets 1 and 2. Introduce block to help students give complete directions. Ask students to memorise the dialogue and give directions to each other.

Notes: there is quite a lot of Japanese on the sheets to make a bridge between oral communication and non-oral communication classes. You can delete the Japanese from each sheet if you feel that would be better and make worksheet 3 with pictures instead.
